Leaves From an Old Diary

By Elma Kelly

As read by Emily Kelly Young at the Second Annual Reunion of the Kelly Family, held at Casey, Illinois, on August the 23rd, 1925.

INSTEAD of the history of the Kelly family I was asked to give at this Annual Reunion of 1925, allow me to substitute a few leaves from a century-old diary kept by Daniel Guernsey, schoolmaster, Blue Lick, Clark County, Indiana, in the early years of that state. These leaves from the old diary tell of sickness and sorrow and death; tell of a "low, green tent whose curtain never outward swings;" tell of love, devotion and marriage, and a new home in the forests of Indiana.

This is, as the children would say, a really true story. A story of our ancestors.

To make it the more readily understood, and so more interesting, I will explain some things as I go along.

I will begin by telling you of the young lady who occasioned the writing of these leaves of the diary of long ago—Nancy Kelly. Nancy Kelly was the young daughter of John Kelly, oldest son of Lawrence Kelly, our Revolutionary ancestor, a soldier of the volunteers of Pennsylvania. Lawrence and his wife, Martha Smith-Kelly, lived in the home of this oldest son, John. Nancy was a sweetheart, the betrothed of Bronson Guernsey, son of the writer of the diary.

The first date in this century-old diary in which we are interested is:

"1823

Sept. 21st. Bronson watches at John Kelly's.

Sept. 22nd. Morning at 4 o'clock old Mrs. Kelly died, aged 81. Old grandfather Kelly is supposed not to survive many days. Bronson watches."

We see the faithful lover standing by in this hour of sickness and sorrow. Grandmother Martha gone, grandfather Lawrence soon to follow.

"Sept. 23rd. We all attend the funeral. Guy, Seymour (Guernsey), Laz. K. Robert Campbellton and Wm. Patrick dig the grave in the woods near John Dietz's. Get home from the burying about five o'clock."

You will notice there was in those days a community of feeling. When sickness or trouble overtook there were helping hands of neighbors, tender hands to hollow the earth and round the bed for the last, long, dreamless sleep.

"Sept. 24th. Old Mr. Lawrence Kelly, aged 83 years, dies about six thirty this morning."

He omits the evident fact, or what would seem evident, that the faithful Bronson again watches, else how did he know the hour of departure.

"Sept. 25th. Attended the funeral of Mr. Kelly. Mr. Little preached an excellent sermon. Got home from the burial about four o'clock."

Just here I will turn from the "Leaves of the Old Diary," to the pages of "The History of the Ohio Falls Cities and their Counties"—one of which is Clark—published in 1882.

This history says, "The most prominent family in the extreme west of Clark county was that of Lawrence Kelly, who came from Pennsylvania and was here as early as 1810. His sons were John, Hugh, Abram, William and Davis." The daughters were Elizabeth and Martha. On page 367 of this volume we find: "Mountain Grove graveyard in the western part of Monroe Township in the Blue Lick country is one of the oldest burying grounds in the county. Lawrence Kelly and his wife, who died on the same day, were the first to be interred in it." There seems some discrepancy in the account of the writer of the diary and that of the historian. We have no means of knowing which is correct, but as Mr. Guernsey, the writer of the diary, was present at the time we will assume his account is correct, though there is a family tradition that the grandparents did die the same day and were buried in the same grave.

Nothing more of interest concerning the Kellys seems to have transpired 'till we find this date:

"Dec. 30th.—James Kelly in Settlement collecting flour money."

You will note the use of the old time "settlement," now called the "community." James was a half brother of Nancy, the son of John and his first wife, Nancy Ferguson Kelly, who died and left two sons, Thomas and James. James married and moved to Mooresville, Indiana, and was afterward known to the Kellys as "Mooresville Jim."

I have heard my father speak of him often. He has descendants in Indianapolis but we have lost all knowledge of them.

We now leave the year 1823 for the new year, 1824, and the date, Feb. 12. Are you guessing a wedding is to be chronicled on one of the leaves of the old diary? You are right. A wedding at John Kelly's, followed by a wedding party at the home of the groom.

"1824

Feb. 12th. Bronson's wedding day. P.M. we fix up a sled and with the oxen all start for Mr. John Kelly's. About 2 o'clock about one hundred gathered. A good wedding. Got home about dark."

No doubt many of you who go to weddings these modern days in automobiles will smile at the ox team and sled. Perhaps a hundred years from now, who knows, your descendants who fly to weddings in their airplanes will smile at your ancient Fords.

"Feb. 13th. About one hundred gather here at my house to finish the wedding. The following persons were weighed: Daniel Bronson Guernsey weighs 146 pounds, Nancy A. Guernsey 130, John Kelly 121, Betsey Kelly 160, Martha K. 89, Davis Kelly 147, Hannah Kelly 130, Nancy K. 122, Priscilla Caleb 107, Hugh Kelly (Sen.) 133, Wm. K. 124, Lawrence K. 123, Hugh K. (Jr.) 115, Abram K. 123."

There may have been more of the one hundred guests weighed, but if so no leaf from the old diary tells us. It would seem from this that the Kelly men were no giants.

The next we have is of a new home to be built in the forests of southern Indiana for the new bride. No doubt when it was finished she was as proud of it as the brides of today are of their modern bungalows. The faithful Bronson begins it soon after the wedding.

"Feb. 24th. Bronson has John Lewis, Daniel Townsend, Lazarus K. and Lawrence K. to score house logs."

"March 6th. Bronson works at his house and has Hugh Kelly, son Lazarus and John and Davis Kelly to help."

This last leaf we have of the old, old diary tells of the new home to be shared by the happy lovers as the first ones tell of the going home together of the old lovers, the founders, so far as we know, of the Kelly family.

Military Service

A glance through the preceding pages will reveal that members of the Kelly family have a long and honorable record of military service to their country. We find that the family has a service record in every major war in which the nation has engaged.

Revolutionary War.

This record starts with that of Lawrence Kelly (1740-1823), who was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, serving in a Pennsylvania regiment called Rangers. His war record may be found in the state archives at Harrisburg, Pa.

War of 1812.

Lawrence Kelly's youngest son, Davis Kelly (1789-1847), was a soldier in an Indiana regiment in the War of 1812. On Dec. 3, 1812, he married Hannah Mills, grand-daughter of Anna Warren Wheatley whom we believe was a sister of General Joseph Warren, revolutionary patriot who was killed in the battle of Bunker Hill in 1775.

Davis and Hannah Kelly, from whom descend the present-day generations listed in this booklet, gave to the service of their country one son in the Mexican War; four sons, three sons-in-law, six grandsons, and one grandson-in-law, in the Civil War; two great-grandsons in the Spanish-American War, and eight great-grandsons in the World War.

Mexican War (1846)

Richard Mills Kelly, fourth son of Davis and Hannah Kelly (see family No. 12, p. 10). Later served as a captain in the Civil War.

Civil War.

Captain Silas Warren Kelly, son of Davis and Hannah Kelly (see family No. 9, p. 8) organized Co. F, 59th Illinois Volunteer Infantry at Hazel Dell, Ill., in 1861. His eldest son, John Kelly, was first lieutenant of this company, and two of his brothers, Thomas Ferguson Kelly (family No. 10, p. 9) and George Wheatley Kelly (family No. 14, p. 10) also served in the company. Capt. S. W. Kelly's second son, James Challen Kelly (family No. 18, p. 12) enlisted in 1863 and served as a sergeant in Co. I, 5th Illinois Cavalry. Lt. John Kelly died in service at Iuka, Miss., in 1862.

Other descendants of Davis and Hannah Kelly who served in the Civil War were:

Captain Richard Mills Kelly, fourth son; Indiana regiment.

Joseph Jones, son-in-law (family No. 15, p. 10).

George Allen, son-in-law (family No. 16, p. 11).

Military Service, Cont'd.

Simon Cole, son-in-law (family No. 17, p. 11).

Davis L. Kelly, grandson (family No. 10, p. 9); enlisted in Co. F, 59th Ill. Inf., served 4 years; wounded at battle of Pea Ridge, 1862.

Richard F. Kelly, grandson (family No. 10, p. 9), enlisted in Co. I, 5th Ill. Cavalry; served as corporal until close of the war.

William Richard Davis, grandson (family No. 8, p. 8), enlisted in Co. F, 59th Ill. Inf., but was transferred to another branch of service; served four years.

Robert Riley Kelly, grandson (family No. 11, p. 9), enlisted Dec., 1863, in Co. I, 5th Ill. Cavalry; mortally wounded in battle at Meridian, Miss., Feb. 14, 1864; died next day.

Dr. Harry J. Maynard, grandson-in-law (family No. 10, p. 9).

Spanish-American War.

Two great-grandsons of Davis and Hannah Kelly served in the Spanish-American War, Waldo Barton Kelly, son of Danville B. and Margaret Hines Kelly (see family No. 10, p. 9); and Mark Carruthers, son of William and Sarah Little Carruthers (see family No. 13, p. 10).

World War. I

Eight great-grandsons of Davis and Hannah Kelly served in field and camp in the World War. Their service records are:

JOHN ROBERT KELLY, son of George D. and Mary Morrow Kelly (see family No. 11, p. 9); b. June 27, 1886, ~~Beverley~~, Kansas; lived in Kansas and Arkansas until 1890; Hazel Dell, Ill., 1890-1911; Lennox, S. D., 1911-1916; Hazel Dell, 1916-1918.

Entered World War service at Toledo, Ill., May 26, 1918, sent to Camp Gordon, Ga.; sent to France and served with Co. E, 330th Infantry; Co. 38, 4th Infantry Replacement Regiment; Hdqs. Co., 60th U. S. Infantry. Died Sept. 24, 1918, lobar pneumonia; interred in France; body returned and reinterred at Hazel Dell, Ill. Unmarried.
